MARI SEYMOUR

contact

mariksm@hawaii.edu

Honolulu, HI

marisumidamiyashiro.github.io

hello

I am currently studying Interface
Design within KCC's New Media Arts program. I have always had a love for art and enjoy exploring new creative outlets. I hope to continue my creative journey by pushing the boundaries of visual design while working alongside fellow creatives.

education

Kapi'olani Community College

Honolulu, HI

expected graduation date May 2024

Kalani High School

Honolulu, HI
graduated 2010

skills

Adobe Creative Cloud UX / UI Design HTML / CSS / JavaScript

wok experience

Kaimuki Dry Goods

SALES ASSOCIATE

March 2018 - March 2020

Customer Assistance

- Provide friendly and knowledgeable assistance to customers in locating and selecting fabrics
- Offer suggestions and recommendations based on customers' preferences and project needs

Product Knowledge

- Stay up-to-date with the latest fabric trends, patterns, and materials
- Have an understanding of the store's inventory, including fabric types, prints, and textures

Stock Management and Visual Merchandising

- Keep fabric displays organized and neat throughout the day
- Assist with receiving new shipments of fabrics, checking for accuracy and quality
- Regularly update displays to showcase featured or seasonal fabrics

Ross, Dress for Less

FRONT-END SUPERVISOR

May 2015 - February 201

Staff Management

- Schedule and assign tasks to cashiers
- Address employee concerns and conflicts in a timely and professional manner

Customer Service

- Handle customer complaints, inquiries, and issues in a courteous and efficient manner
- Monitor and improve customer waiting times and service quality

Cash Management

Oversee cash handling procedures, including opening and closing cash registers

Team Communication

Being able to promote effective communication between front-end staff and management